Do It Yourself 0

Foreword

The objective of this series of Do It Yourself notes is to introduce with practical applications users to the manipulation of simple polarimetric data processing techniques.

Users are recommended to first read the PolSARpro tutorial in order to become familiar with polarimetric data representations and terminology.

The Do It Yourself only presents some particular and popular procedures and techniques. Users are strongly encouraged to make their own experience by testing other techniques, settings and data sets!